This month, New York's R & Company opened Modern In Your Life, the second installment of a two-part collaboration with BassamFellows, examining the Connecticut-based studio's ongoing dialogue with the legacy of modernism. Presented in a landmark Philip Johnson building in Ridgefield—restored in 2018 by BassamFellows to serve as its HQ—Modern In Your Life presents the studio's current work alongside iconic 20th-century designs curated by James Zemaitis from R & Company's collection and a grouping of modern art masterpieces curated by art advisor Erica Barrish. Part one of the collaboration, Carve, Curve, Cane, exploring BassamFellows' approach to materials, opened at R & Company in Tribeca in June.
